JOHN H. LYNDE, - - PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, JAN. 5, 1870.

The New York Herald concludes an article reviewing the preparations for the bombardment of Paris as follows:

"On all sides the preparations of King William are Titanic; he now has four hundred and fifty thousand men concentrated upon Paris, one hundred and fifty thousand fresh troops having reached his camps from Germany within a fortnight, and all the available heavy siege trains from beyond the Rhine have been brought to the scene where the last desperate die is to be cast for empire and European supremacy. At the dating of the last account received all the German officers had gone from Versailles to the front, and their field pieces were playing on the French outposts to drive them in preliminary to the awful miserere of the general bombardment.

The hour of the final crucial test—of the experimentum crucis—has come for the grand capital of the late modern Cæsars, and nations look on with interest painfully profound. But if the stern energy and gigantic strength of the attack excite our wonder, there is something in the calm resistance that confronts it which revives the spirit of old time chivalry in every manly heart and sways the sympathies of the whole outside world. May God defend the right!"

We are pleased to announce that Silas C. Hatch, Esq., of this city, was unanimously chosen at the caucus of the delegation on Wednesday as candidate for Councillor from this district, there being no opposition to his choice.

THE LEGISLATIVE CAUCUSES. At the caucus of the Republican Senators on Tuesday evening, Senator Nealley of York was elected Chairman, and S. W. Lane, Esq., of Augusta, Clerk.

In the Caucus of the Democratic Representatives, Hon. Isaac Reed of Waldoboro' presided and Hon. J. F. Rawson of Bangor was Secretary. Hon. Edmund Wilson of Thomaston was nominated as candidate for Speaker and Frederick Lyford, Esq., of Lewiston, candidate for Clerk, and the minor officers referred to a committee. Hon. Samuel E. Smith of Lincoln was the only Democratic senator on the ground, and he held no caucus.

The Republican State Committee, at a meeting held in Augusta, Tuesday evening, elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

Hon. James G. Blaine, Chairman.
Z. A. Smith, Secretary.
J. D. Hopkins, Treasurer.
W. F. Lowell, J. W. Wakefield, and W. P. Wingate, Finance Committee.

It appears from official data that there are upward of 800 United States Consular offices in various parts of the world. Of this number, although the law requires them to make returns of fees, 290 have not rendered reports, while others have sent only fragmentary statements. Paris, London, Liverpool and Manchester return the highest receipts.

Letters from Versailles say that King William has always expressed the greatest horror of permitting the Parisian population to starve, and the investment of the capital has worn upon him more than has all the rest of the war.

It seems that the statement that Sir John Rose is about to visit us for the purpose of arranging the fishery question is incorrect. The Montreal Gazette is informed on the best authority that he visits the United States on private business only, after transacting which he will probably spend some time in Canada.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The advocates of Woman Suffrage will hold a convention at San Jose, Cal., on the 18th inst.

The President on Wednesday nominated Gen. M. D. Leggett of Ohio, Commissioner of Patents.

Gilbert Smith, a respectable and prominent Democratic politician of Highland Falls, N. Y., near West Point, committed suicide on Monday.

The members of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council of Dover, N. H., were qualified on Wednesday by Mayor Stevens, who then delivered his inaugural address.

Charles L. Miller of Michigan, Clerk to the Senate Committee on Commerce, was found dead on Wednesday morning in the water closet of the Capitol. Physicians pronounced the cause of his death to have been apoplexy. He was 60 years old.

Hugh Colville, the Independent candidate, was elected on Wednesday President of the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association of Cincinnati, O. A new Constitution was adopted which admits all persons to a membership.

Senator McDonald withdrew from the Senatorial contest in Arkansas, thus securing the election of Governor Clayton. He charges that fraud has been practiced in the interest of Gov. Clayton and refuses to countenance such a course by entering the contest.

THE MERCANTILE LIBRARY.

BANGOR, Jan. 4, 1870.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

Inasmuch as our citizens may very soon be called upon for aid in behalf of the Library of the Bangor Mercantile Association and for providing for its reception into those spacious rooms in Kenduskeag Block, your columns can do no better service to the community than by the dissemination of facts contained in the following extract from a recent catalogue of the "Mercantile Library Association" of Boston.

Many of the suggestions are worthy of consideration and can be made applicable to our own Library Association, while others perhaps may be studied to advantage in view of adopting improvements for extending the usefulness of our own Library and Reading room. A committee of influential and worthy gentlemen has just been organized to make an appeal for a fund sufficiently large to enable the Managers of the Mercantile Association to go on and complete the work so auspiciously begun; and they have only to say the word and the labor is accomplished, when thousands will rejoice in view of manifold pleasures yet in store for them.

Every person in the community can become "a member or subscriber with all the privileges of the library of 20,000 volumes, reading-room, literary exercises, and entertainments, by the payment of two dollars per annum. In addition to this, the Board of Government have just voted to throw open the library to the general public as a circulating librrary, loaning the books at two cents a day. It will be the largest circulating library probably in this country. It is intended by means of additions to the library, constantly to increase its attractiveness and its value.

Our merchants are ready to acknowledge the value of the institution. They have helped materially in the publication of the catalogue. If their attention was directed to the matter, and if the merchants could act as a body, we believe that they would be glad to erect a suitable building for this association, as the merchants of New York, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Chicago, and other cities have done for similar associations. The merchants are directly interested in the welfare of their clerks—the young men engaged in mercantile pursuits,—and certainly this class of young men need all possible advantages of education and improvement, even more than other young men who have more time to devote to reading and study.

The value of the opportunities for improvement and study which our association offers to all, is not to be lightly estimated. A large and valuable library, a convenient reading-room containing a great variety of newspapers and magazines, a large hall for meetings for instruction and entertainment, the practice and experience which may be obtained, these are advantages which the young men ought thoroughly to appreciate.

It would be a matter of regret to thousands in this city if the association should cease to exist, but do all realize how necessary it is that the institutions should have their aid and support? Can Boston afford to neglect the Mercantile Library Association? Is it creditable to our city that one association like ours is not suitably maintained?

We have a fund of about $20,000, the interest of which is used to pay the current expenses. It is not sufficient to make the institution self-sustaining. The yearly assessment of two dollars is a very low price for membership, and the receipts from that source do not begin to pay the current expenses.

In the past, our institution has been an honor and a credit to the city. If properly supported its influence for good will constantly increase. The way in which the young man spends his leisure hours has an immense influence upon his whole life. Again, the young need practice and experience to fit them for the affairs of life. We would thus merely indicate how much good an institution like ours may be made the means of accomplishing. It has grown from small beginnings to be of recognized value, to be a storehouse of knowledge and wisdom, and we desire to see its resources augmented.

We feel that the claims of our association upon the merchants of this city are very strong, and that those claims cannot long be overlooked. Large bequests are made to such institutions as Harvard University, and very properly. Is not the Boston Mercantile Library Association—in the best sense of the words—a college for the merchant's clerks of this city? Is it not just such an educational institution—no matter what name you give it—as the mercantile community need? Of all the persons, the merchant's clerks must feel most sensibly the want of such advantages and opportunities; the more so from the fact that the time is limited which they can devote to mental improvement. Every advantage should be afforded them to enable them to make the most of their leisure hours. In the noble words of our merchant philanthropist, "Education is a debt which the present generation owes to posterity." Why not, then, give our Boston Mercantile Library Association a suitable building and adequate facilities for making the association what it ought to be, and might be, as well to endow Harvard or Yale? Are not our merchants more directly interested in the work done by this association? There is no reason why one class of young men should have fine buildings, large libraries, and learned professors devoted to their instruction, and another class of young men, which is much larger and not less important to the country, should be left almost to their own individual exertions."

LATEST NEWS IN BRIEF.

Three ruffians with innumerable aliases, have been arrested and identified as part of the gang of burglars who attempted to rob Arbuckle's store in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Seven houses in Sedalia, Mo., were burned Monday morning. The Odd Fellows' Hall and the office of the Deputy U. S. Assessor were destroyed. Total loss fully $175,000.—Insurance $21,300.

Samuel H. Ward, a young negro confined in the Newark city prison, fired the building on Tuesday night in hopes of escaping during the confusion. The flames were luckily discovered before much damage was done.

Burglars forced open two safes of E. P. Dutton & Co., book publishers at 713 Broadway, New York. A burglar-proof steel chest in one of the safes containing a large amount of bonds and valuable property resisted their efforts and the burglars secured but $1,000.

The laborers on the Spuyten Duyvil and Port Morris Railroad in New York struck on Tuesday on account of a reduction of wages. The whole force of 600 hundred are now idle, but it is reported that a majority will resume work if assured of protection from their turbulent brethren.

Since the passage of the paid fire department bill by the Philadelphia City Councils incendiary fires have greatly increased in number and every alarm has been the signal for rioting among the voluntary firemen. The Mayor has accordingly issued a proclamation offering $1,000 reward for the arrest of the incendiaries.

THE MISSING WAR STEAMER. The vessel missing is the U. S. steamer Saginaw, and not the Saranac as reported. The Saranac is in San Francisco harbor, but the Saginaw, Commander Sicard, with a crew of 100 picked men, left Honolulu four months ago via Midway Islands, to make a hydrographic survey of them and the adjacent waters.

Mrs. Thomas Baker, of Boston was bound in $300 for examination on Friday, for an assault with a knife upon a Miss Delano, on Tremont St. Mrs. B. had become jealous of her husband's relations with Miss Delano and had previously threatened her with a pistol. The interference of bystanders prevented serious consequences.

Dispatches from Missouri state that earnest efforts are being made to unite the two Republican wings of the Legislature in the organization and the election of U. S. Senator. The Democrats sent a delegation to the Republican caucus to propose a fusion, but no action was taken and it is hoped that harmony will be restored.

DR. SCHENCK ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is, for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose, in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles farther down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville; it is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there. The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times; but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite; and, when this is the case, they generally increase in flesh, and then the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are, that patients are less liable to take cold there than where there is a less even temperature; and it is not necessary to say, that, where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds, he is certain to die shortly: therefore my advice is, go well down into the State, out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat, or cough; but, for those whose lungs are diseased, a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore, and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully; and hence my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills; for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well-established fact, that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third at least of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States, it does not prevail so largely; still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small-pox, &c! but they are not; they take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days. They pay no attention to it; and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope of cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected, even slightly, is to lay in a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines, because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action; I know, that, where they are used in strict accordance with my directions, they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough, or night sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is, to give my three medicines in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is, to give tone to the stomach,—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry; I have hopes of such. With a relish for food and a gratification of that relish, comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs,—then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now, there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, Is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease, if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record; that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact, they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely, of fruit, and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes, and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night, and you may then drink water, and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plums, peaches, or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you only good.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 North Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs; and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood, that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say, that when persons take my medicines, and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold, yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear, that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

MAINE CENTRAL

RAILROAD

Extension Bonds.

It is generally well known, the Maine Central Railroad terminates at Danville Junction, and from thence to Portland the Road is a part of the Grand Trunk Railway. For the use of this piece of Road, (some 28 miles) the Maine Central pays to the Grand Trunk a rental, which, for some years past, has amounted to some $70,000 per annum. The Maine Central having leased the Portland & Kennebec R. R. and thus joined that entire Road with its own under one management, has decided to obviate the necessity of using the Grand Trunk road from Danville to Portland by building an Extension of its own road, from Danville Junction to CUMBERLAND, using the Portland and Kennebec R. R., from thence to Portland.

This Extension has already been surveyed and more than three fourths of the requisite grading, and all the stone work and masonry completed, and the road will be ready for the iron, (already contracted for,) in the Spring, and prepared for business soon afterward. To aid in accomplishing this work, the Maine Central Railroad has issued its Bonds to the amount of $500,000, payable in thirty years from October 1st, 1870.

These Bonds are secured by a First and only Mortgage upon the Extension and the Entire line of the Maine Central with all its property, (which would readily sell for three times the amount of its Bonded debt,) is holden for the payment of the Interest and Principal of these Bonds.

The security is

UNQUESTIONABLE.

A large part of this issue has already been taken in this and other States, and the remainder is offered for sale at a price which makes them one of the most desirable investments in the market.

The Bonds bear Interest at the rate of six per cent per annum and both

Principal and Interest payable

IN GOLD.

Free from Government Tax,

Coupons Payable in Boston, April 1st and October 1st in each Year.

When it is considered that by building this Extension the Road can have a complete line of its own through to Portland at an outlay of some $500,000, (gold,) per year for interest, instead of paying some $70,000 per year rental to another corporation, the commendable economy of the undertaking will be apparent.

The local business alone, on the Extension will be profitable, besides the advantage to the Road of thus being connected by the same gauge with all the great Railroads of the Country.

Bonds issued in denominations of $100 and $1000 each.

The highest market price will be allowed for Government, State, and City Bonds, Bonds of other Railroads and Corporations, and all marketable securities, in exchange for above.

PORTLAND AND OGDENSBURG RAILROAD

First Mortgage Bonds.

Principal and Interest Payable in Gold.

The undersigned have authority to offer for sale the Bonds of the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad Company at the very low price of 90 with accrued interest in currency.

This road is now completed to West Baldwin, and trains are running to that point 33 miles from Portland. Beyond West Baldwin the road is graded to Fryeburg, 50 miles from Portland, and the rails will be laid to that point as early in the spring as the weather will permit. From Fryeburg, the road is under contract to Conway, N. H., to which point trains will run in July, 1871.

The road has thus far been built and equipped from cash subscriptions to the Capital Stock, but to complete it to Bartlett, N. H., and to provide additional equipment for its increasing business, the Company has issued bonds to the amount of $800,000, secured by a mortgage of its entire property to the following Trustees.

WOODBURY DAVIS,

SAMUEL E. SPRING,

WESTON F. MILLIKEN.

We now offer these Bonds for sale, and confidently recommend them as a safe and profitable investment, for these reasons:

1. Low Price. At the present value of U. S. Bonds, these Bonds pay one per cent more interest in gold on the investment.

2. Ample security. The entire mortgage upon the road, when completed to Bartlett, will be only $12,500 per mile, a smaller incumbrance than upon any other Railroad in Maine, with a single exception [illegible] less than the value of its rails and equipment.

3. Large and profitable local traffic. The business upon the line already completed more tan meets the expectations of its most sanguine friends, and secures beyond a doubt the interest on its Bonds. The line is the natural outlet of some of the finest water-powers in the state, on the Presumpscot and Saco rivers, hitherto unimproved on account of the difficulty of reaching the seaboard. It taps the large interior navigation of Lake Sebago and its tributaries, over 34 miles of inland waters, drains a very large agricultural district lying on the shores of Lake Sebago, and on the banks of the Ossipee and Saco rivers, and penetrates the heart of the White Mountains at Conway and Bartlett, the most popular summer resorts of the region.

4. Prospective connections. The road is to form part of a trunk line from Lake Champlain to the seaboard. Its sister Corporation in Vermont is rapidly building the Western Division of the road, from Swanton to the Connecticut river, and the entire line, when completed, will be the shortest connection between Ogdensburg, the great distributing point of the lakes, and tide-water.

We offer these Bonds for the present in denominations of $1,000 or $500, at

On motion by Mr Thurman the resolution introduced by Mr Sprague directing an inquiry into the alleged complicity of Senator Sprague with the blockade runners in Texas during the rebellion, was, together with a communication from the Secretary of War on the subject, referred to a select committee of five.

The Senate then briefly considered Mr Trumbull's bill to relieve Congressmen from importunities in appointments to office, the question being on Mr Williams' amendment to extend the prohibition from members of Congress to include all judicial, military and naval officers of the United States.

Mr Trumbull advocated the bill at length, when it went over by expiration of the morning hour and the remainder of the session was occupied in the discussion of the bill for the relief of J Milton Best of Paducah, Ky, which was favored by Messrs. Davis and Howe and opposed by Mr Carpenter.

Without disposing of the subject the Senate went into Executive session and soon after adjourned.

METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS—1869-70

Prof M C Fernald, of the State College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, at Orono, kindly furnishes us the following valuable summaries of meteorological observations taken at the College during the years 1869-70. It cannot fail to prove of great value.

[illegible] the lowest temperature (17° below zero) on the 4th of February. The range of temperature between the two extremes was 111 degrees. The corresponding range of temperature for 1869 was 102.5 degrees. The temperature of the several months of the year as compared with corresponding months of 1869 is given below:—

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| January, | 3°.08 | warmer than | Jan | 1869 |
| February, | 3°.61 | colder | Feb | " |
| March, | 4°.91 | warmer | March | " |
| April, | 4°.00 | " | April | " |
| May, | 0°.54 | " | May | " |
| June, | 6°.16 | " | June | " |
| July, | 2°.22 | " | July | " |
| August, | 4°.44 | " | August | " |
| September, | 1°.70 | colder | Sept. | " |
| October, | 2°.42 | warmer | Oct. | " |
| November, | 4°.26 | " | Nov | " |
| December, | 2°.36 | " | Dec | " |

It will be noticed that two months viz—February and September were colder, and that all the other months were warmer than the corresponding months of the previous year. The early season is accounted for by the warm months of March and April. The mean temperature for the year was 2°.49 higher than the mean temperature for 1869. During the months of May, June and July the amount of rain was small. From June 10th to July 8th the rainfall was only .31 in. The total rainfall during the year was nearly 4 in less than that of 1869, the amount of snow about 6 inches less than for that year.

On the 14th of July a tornado passed over the counties of Androscoggin, Kennebec and Penobscot doing much damage. The strongest gale of the year was on the afternoon of the 18th of October the wind attaining its greatest force between 3 and 4 p m. Two days later on the 20th of October, at 11 33 a m an earthquake occurred, continuing about 40 seconds. Its direction was from N W to SE, the wave movement being continuous and strong enough to rock buildings with considerable violence. It will be remembered that there was also an earthquake on the 22d of October 1869. The prevailing wind during the year was from the northwest. The barometer indicated the least pressure of the atmosphere in the month of February, the greatest pressure in the month of January.

FIRE IN PATTEN. Our correspondent writes that the house and farm buildings situated at what is known as "Happy Corner" in Patten some five miles from the village proper, owned and occupied by Capt J Flanders, were totally destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. The horses and cattle were got out of the barns but a number of hogs and sheep 90 tons of hay, 40 bushels wheat 10 bushels oats a large quantity of buckwheat several carriages wagons and harnesses and all the farming tools were consumed. Capt Flanders at great risk went into the house after a purse containing $50 but lost it in escaping from the close pursuing flames. Some $900 worth of household goods were lost in the house. The total loss will probably be more than $3000, on which there was an insurance of $1000.

We are assembled here to enact laws. Let us see to it that we do our duty, keeping in mind, that obedience is the end and object of the law. The penalty is annexed to it not as the aim and end for which the law is established, but to secure the end. In all of our deliberations let us be true to ourselves and it will follow, as the night the day, that we cannot be false to the people. Once more thanking you for the honor conferred I await your pleasure in completing the organization of the Senate.

The members elect appeared in the Representatives Hall at 10 15 and took their seats. S J Chadbourne Clerk of the House for 1870 called to order and prayer was offered by Rev Mr Martin of Augusta.

| Elmund Wilson | 2[illegible] |

And Mr Smith was declared elected Speaker and he was conducted to the Chair by Mr Wilson of Thomaston and proceeded to address the House.

The Speaker gracefully expressed his thanks for the honor conferred upon him, bespeaking the co-operation and kindness of the members in the performance of his duties. He quoted approvingly the declaration "That government is best which governs least" and hoped the aim would be to secure the best results with the least changes or additions to present laws. He urged the necessity for a wise economy, neither parsimonious nor extravagant as demanded by the people in view of the necessarily heavy public burdens and concluded: Only as we fulfil these reasonable expectations shall we receive at the conclusion of our labors the plaudit "Well done good and faithful servant."—Gentlemen, I am ready to proceed with the business of the House.

Owing to the good reputation and popularity of the Troches many worthless and cheap imitations are offered which are good for nothing. Be sure to obtain the true Brown's Bronchial Troches. Sold every where.

A lady who through the autumn of life had not lost all dreams of its spring said to Jerrold "I cannot imagine what makes my hair turn gray I sometimes fancy it must be the essence of rosemary with which my maid is in the habit of brushing it. What think you?" "I should be afraid madame," said the distinguished dramatist, dryly, "that is is the scent of thyme."

The Admiral and His Paint Bucket—On the morning of July 4 1863, the Rebel stronghold Vicksburg, was formally surrendered. The writer was one of those who were fortunate enough to obtain an early position in the dome of the Court House—From that elevated place we could see the rebel regiments marching to the designated points outside their works, and there stacking their arms the boys in blue, by thousands, as far as the eye could reach, thronged the Rebel ramparts, straining their eyes to get a look at the town they had fought so long and well to capture our troops marching into the city and taking possession, the fleet of gunboats and transports from above and below in full head of steam with whistles sounding and bells ringing, approaching the wharf, and thus mind flags flying, fifes screaming, drums beating bugle blasts, the thunder of artillery and the cheers of 100 000 brave boys, the victory was proclaimed on the nation's birthday. The first craft which approached the wharf was the Admiral's flagship. All eyes were turned to that noble vessel as she rounded to. At that moment Col S——, of Indiana, whom I had accompanied into the town, called the attention of Gen W——, of Wisconsin, to the fact that there was a man standing on the deck of the Admiral's flagship with what appeared to be a bucket in his hand. Said Colonel S—— "General, who do you suppose that man is with the bucket?" Glasses were at once levelled at him, and the well known form of the Admiral was recognized. The General expressed the opinion that it was the Admiral. "Yes," replied the Colonel, "that sir, is Admiral Porter with a Bucket of white paint, and of course, as soon as he comes ashore, he will proceed to paint every gun in Vicksburg, 'captured by the United States Naval Forces at Vicksburg, July 4, 1863'"—Ex

Tom Brown on America.—Thomas Hughes on his return to England met a number of his old friends and gave a familiar account of his visit to America. He began with a sketch of his voyage saying he was much interested in the 700 steerage passengers who—with the exception of a Whitechapel bird-catcher, who was going out with a venture in the shape of English blackbirds, thrushes, and larks—appear to have been people going out to commence life in the new world, with a sprinkling of men who had tried the experiment years before, and had succeeded so well as to have been able to "go home" on a visit to their friends and relatives. One of these men, an honest, hardworking blacksmith, who had been 30 years in Canada had been able to dower three daughters with $1,500 each, put four sons on farms of their own, and was then on his way to pass the rest of his life in comfort on a good farm of his own. He was much impressed with the vastness of America, from the steamer running far up the river St Lawrence, and then going alongside a pier at Montreal, where the stream is still two miles wide. Some sketches were given of the simple-minded, pleasure loving inhabitants of Lower Canada, of the city of Quebec, and of Montreal. The marvelous growth of Montreal—which 40 years since contained 17,000 inhabitants, and is now a city of 100,000—was briefly referred to, and the striking feature which it possesses, in common with most trans-atlantic towns, of wide streets and avenues planted on either side with trees was duly dwelt upon. The Canadian had not impressed him as presenting any marked characteristics to distinguish them from English men. But on crossing the border he was conscious of being among a new people, of which the first peculiarity which struck him was their being remarkably silent. He endeavored to talk at once, but though he found the Americans exceedingly courteous and civil, he at the same time found it extremely difficult to open up a conversation with them. All over the States, contrary to his impression, he had found them a remarkably self-contained, serious, and almost sad people—The Americans appear to have fallen away somewhat from their democratic notions by having practically established three classes on their railways. The new drawing room cars now found on all the lines, for which considerable addition to the ordinary fare has to be paid, is really a first-class, and if any one wants to smoke he is obliged to occupy a very inferior car, equivalent to our third class, the ordinary car representing the second class. With the "Hub of the Universe" the honorable gentleman was delighted, and appears to have made up his mind that, if ever he has to leave England, Boston will be his residing place for the remainder of his life

MAINE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Future Plans and Needs

Having spoken of the progress of building and other improvements during the past season, we now allude briefly to the interior equipments of the institution, glancing at its future plans and wants.

To the Board of Instruction has been added Mr John Swift, a native of Michigan, and a graduate of Michigan Agricultural College, as instructor in Botany and Horticulture. His duties began at the commencement of the last term, and were performed in a very satisfactory manner. Prof Fockham has proved a most competent instructor in Chemistry and has rendered valuable services in other departments and in the general management of the college. The courses of lectures by non resident professors have given good satisfaction, and are to be continued. In the spring, Dr Cutter will give a course in Anatomy and Physiology, to the Sophomore and Freshmen classes, in the summer, courses before the Junior and Sophomore classes will be given by Dr A S Packard, on Useful and Injurious Insects, and by Prof Edward S Morse, on Comparative Anatomy and Zoology, and some time during the year a course on Applied Mechanics will be given, by some competent lecturer, Prof Fernald being now in correspondence with several gentlemen, with this object in view. The college is very well furnished with apparatus, having about two thousand dollars worth of philosophical and twelve hundred dollars worth of chemical apparatus, besides apparatus for teaching Physical Geography, Civil Engineering, &c. A library has been commenced, and already quite a collection has been made. A good library is among the most efficient means of instruction, and friends of the Institution should aid in its establishment.

There are now eight students in the Junior, seven in the Sophomore, and fourteen in the Freshman class. Eight additional applications have already been received for the Freshman class, and at the commencement of the spring term it will probably number about twenty-five. The next winter term begins Jan 26th 1871. The discipline of the college is efficient and the standing of the students unexceptionably good.

So far as the future plans of the Institution have been made known we may mention that at the commencement of the spring term, the duties of Farm Superintendent and Steward, heretofore performed by Mr Johnson, will be divided, the Farm Superintendent will be instructor in agriculture, and the office of Steward or chief of the commissary department will be created, the latter officer occupying the new boarding house, described in our previous article, and supplying the boys with their "bread and butter." This division of labor will be a great relief to the Farm Superintendent and be a direct benefit to the students. It is intended that the boarding house will be completed, furnished and ready for use, at the opening of the spring term. Military instruction—which is made a requirement of the college course by the organic act—is to receive more attention in the future, and the services of a government officer as instructor in this specialty, will be secured if possible.

Among the pressing needs of the Institution, are workshops for the practical instruction of the students, a better barn or barns, better and more implements for performing the ordinary work of the farm, better stock—especially for purposes of illustrating to students the various breeds—a set of buildings for the use of an additional professor, a plant house for horticultural purposes, and a better reference and general library. These ways are all apparent and all necessary, but we have placed them above in the order in which it seems to us their importance demands. In about a year and a half the first graduating class will leave the institution, and it is absolutely necessary that they receive a thorough and practical instruction in mechanics and the use of tools before that time. The workshops—fitted at first with appliances for working wood only—and afterwards provided with steam power and machinery for iron work, are among the most needed equipments of the Institution. Next are better barns, better farming implements, and better stock, of which there should be a pair at least, of each of the distinct breeds—the latter, as well as the implements designed mainly as means of instruction and illustration. These are all necessary for the immediate wants of the Institution, and without them it cannot fulfil its design, or give that complete practical training its students expect of it. Its equipments in the way of philosophical, mathematical and chemical apparatus, are fully equal to those of any similar institution of the same age, in our country, and with the means for practical direction which we have just mentioned, the college will be able to take high rank among those institutions in our country whose special aim is the furtherance among us, of the "new education"—the practical and scientific training of our young men.

How can these fixtures be provided? The only way known to us, and the only way expected by the Trustees, is by legislative appropriation. The appropriation of the last Legislature has been most judiciously expended. It has been applied to furnish fixtures and accommodations urgently needed. Now let another moderate sum be granted by the State for building and equipping the workshops, and for improvements upon the farm in the manner indicated, that the young men who leave this people's college may be qualified by mental and manual training to take responsible positions in society, and in the direction of matters pertaining to our industrial and material progress and welfare. These fixtures once provided, and the State will not be called upon to make grants—as the fund from the general government is now sufficient for the maintenance of the working force of the college,—and as no part of this sum can be expended for buildings or equipments, it is but just that the State should accept the duty of providing this college with all necessary buildings apparatus, implements, tools and stock—since the general government has so generously given the means for defraying all the expenses for professors and instructors.

The progress of the Institution during the past year has been most satisfactory, and it is gradually and surely acquiring character and high rank. As time goes on it will outgrow its mistakes, establish and maintain a system of its own, so far as its management, discipline and course of study is concerned, and secure for itself the confidence and good will of the people.—[Maine Farmer.

R. W. Emerson on Good Manners.—The following is a brief abstract of Mr. Emerson's excellent lecture on self-culture.

The importance of fine and cultivated manners can not be over-estimated. Such cultivation is to be obtained by association with those who are cultivated and we should properly consider the importance of securing such associates for our children. Behavior is all-important. Posture should be studied. An awkward man is graceful when asleep, or when hard at work. When our mind is occupied we naturally assume a proper position. Great power lies in the voice. One man, by his tones can animate a regiment, while another has no following power. There is an immense difference between a heavy and genial manner. The youth of America generally appear hurried and ill at ease, yet no life is so short but there is always time for courtesy. Perfect self-command is the best of manners. The example of the quakers is commendable. They, when sitting down at meals, spend a minute for two in silent prayer. Such a course prevents laughter and unseemly conversation, and gives them an opportunity to start their conversation anew from advantageous ground. Manners are great revealers of secrets. The changes in one's experience are manifest in their countenances, even if we are not always subtle to understand them. A lady loses much of her power when she endeavors to express an undue admiration for an object. Be temperate in our approval and we shall be credited with meaning what we express. Laughter is to be avoided. Lord Chesterfield said that after he came to the years of understanding he never laughed. About dress, no nation dresses better than ours. A king or a general does not need an elegant coat to make himself known, neither does a commanding person require fine apparel. Proper companionship is indispensible. A man who thinks well will incite another's thought. No man can be a master in conversation who has not talked with women. Beware of jokes, they are inestimable for sauce but poor for food. Of the sentimentalist he had considerable to say, but little of a commendatory nature. Things fit for conversation are chalk eggs. Avoid talking shop or other forbidden subjects before company. Again, the great game is not to talk with those who know less than ourselves, but rather tilt with those who are wiser than ourselves. We shall then be overthrown and learn true wisdom thereby.

A Paris correspondent says all the animals in the zoological gardens have been killed and eaten except the monkeys, and they have escaped death only because of their supposed relationship to the human family. The monkeys, doubtless, duly appreciate the relationship.

Tennyson's new published poem, "The Window, or the Loves of the Wrens," is a love story told by a lover of the beginning progress and happy end of his suit. It was written four years ago as a libretto to a piece of music composed by a friend of the laureate and is now published for the first time. It is divided into twelve lyrics of various metres.

of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the Blood installs the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood. Such a remedy that could be relied on has long been sought, and now the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has its virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken

Two tablespoonfuls of the Extract of Sarsaparilla added to a pint of water is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is fully equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla or the decoction as usually made.
